GEORGE WESTINGHOUSE

The death of George Westinghouse, announced yesterday, closed a career varied and romant c in its contrasts and in its activities His record is the record of a life of great service to humanity.

Romance is supposed to adhere only to the stage or to literature, and to dwell only in the haunts of the young and the idle.

It is not so. The most romantic of all careers-not even excepting the careers of the warriors-are the careers of the great inventors and great organizers, the great discoverers, navigators, the men who followed hidden lights and heard fairy voices beckoning them on by new paths to new worlds George Stephenson, born amid the coal mines of England, labor ing when five years old to contribute to the support of his family, getting what education he had in hours that should have been devoted to rest. opened a new world, not only for England, but for all mankind.

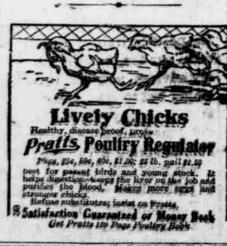

Westinghouse invented, when a ad of fifteen, a rotary engine, and perfected in his early twenties the air brake. He cound not get life March 20th 1914, be it resolva hearing from one of the ablest ed railroad managers of the day. Fe was rediculed by practical men and brushed aside as a crank. He was refused a hearing by Corneil ius Vanderbilt, but he gained one from the Pennsylvania railroad Then when he was summoned by the New York Central managers After I began taking Cardui, I was to come to New York to explain greatly helped, and all three bottles re- his invention, he replied that he best. was too busy and that the managers of the road, who were interested in his air brake, would have to come to his office to investigate it. That air brake has revolution ized the railroad business, made possible trains that before were impossible; made it possible, moreover, to insue safety.

One of his great achievements was piping natural gas into Pitts burg from fields forty miles away. In May, 1885, it is said, he tion books after explaining his Then, by personal solicitation he inspired confidence in his plans and got the money needed. HOPEWELL

Mrs. Sarah Hanks of this place is visiting her son Willie, at Lilly -There was great excitement in this part last week, by some means the woods were set on fire and was going at full speed, but by hard work the fire was stopped without doing very much damage, but in spite of all that could be done several pannels of Charlie Carmicles fence was burn ed.-After an illness of two months, Mr. John Niceley aged twenty two years, died of fever and heart trouble. John was a member of the Christian church and was also a member of the Odd tellows. He leaves beside a wife and two small children an eged father and mother, two sisters and two brothers to mourn the loss of a Christian husband and father. John was in the bloom of life, and not a better and upright, hard working man than john could be found, but while that is the case we all are aware of the fact that the young as well as the old have to die and John has only paid the debt that each and every one must pay sooner or later .- Mr. Hamp Renner and Miss Mary Hood were married Sunday afternoon at the home of Mrs. George Doan. Rev. Chas. Carmicle performed the ceremony.-Mrs. Mollie Kirby and Miss Bertha Carmicle attended the burial of Mr. John Niceley .-Married Marce 21st, Mr. Harry Owens to Miss Mary Childress. May their life be full of sunshine and ther troubles few.
